OUR ANIMAL FRIENDS

With over 63 million households owning pets, and with an awareness that interest in natural and organic pet foods has doubled since 1996, there are many people eager to hear about Cell Tech products...and many animal friends who could benefit from eating our nutrient-rich supplements. Here is just a tiny sample of the many thousands of stories about animals who consume Cell Tech's Super Blue Green® products.

German Shepherd Gets Frisky Again!

Our friends, Roger and Betty, visited their son in Florida and found his 11-year-old dog suffering with severe hip problems. Roger asked if they could provide Animal Algae for the dog. After two or three weeks, the dog was frisky and playful again. Roger wasn't surprised since Cell Tech products are helping him, too!

Older Horse Isn't Slowing Down

My 27-year-old quarter horse defines agelessness. His coat and eyes glow with radiant health. His back is strong, his muscles are well developed, and he has no joint problems. Strider still bucks, runs, and plays in the pasture. I ride him four to five times a week. We do dressage; he loves to canter and go on two-hour trail rides. He has had Animal Algae, Super Q10, Acidophilus, and Bifidus for 10 years. He is not even thinking of retirement.

—Lynette Brannon

Couch Potato No More

After my mother passed away, her grieving 8-year-old cat, always a couch potato, came to live with us. Last night I asked my husband, "Is this the Katy Boots we used to see sleeping much of the time?" as she bounded across the room, came to a screeching halt in front of a mirror, admired herself for four seconds, and then beat it out of the room. Algae. It's the algae!

Dog Steals Essentials

When my brother rescued his "beagle/basset" Abigail from the street, she was very thin. My brother started her on raw food and lots of Cell Tech products: enzymes, probiotics, Super Sprouts & Algae, and Animal Algae. Within a few months her coat came to life and she filled out beautifully. And here's a funny story. Even with short little basset legs, she managed to get on the kitchen counter and grab a bag of Essentials. She opened every packet individually and ate about 25 packets. She loves her algae!

Vet Recommends Essentials for Dogs, Cats, and Horses

I love the Essentials for animals. For dogs and cats you can give all or part of a packet each feeding. For horses one to two packets a day is a great maintenance program. I feel animals benefit from the probiotics and enzymes as well as the algae. It is also so convenient to just open the packets and drop the capsules in the food. Most animals eat the vegetable capsules without any problem.

—Madalyn Ward, DVM

Note: Each Cell Tech Essentials packet contains one each of Alpha Sun®, Omega Sun®, Acidophilus, and Bifidus, and two Original Formula Enzymes—all in vegetarian capsules. Bags of 30 packets are available for $40 each, or at a 10% discount for two bags, a 20% discount for three bags, and an additional 10% off when committing to the discounted Automatic ReOrder (ARO) program. Call Cell Tech or visit www.celltech.com for more information.

Wounded Cat Knows What He Needs

I found a large oozing scab hidden in the long fur of Squirt, my 3-year-old "algae cat." After cleaning the wound, I offered him one capsule each of Original Formula Enzymes and Acidophilus, two Alpha Sun tablets and one Super Sprouts & Algae tablet, which he ate. Then he pawed the Super Sprouts bottle to make it tip over and spill, and ate two more tablets. I let him have as many as he wanted for the next few days and within a week that big festering hole in his side was completely healed. Squirt knows what's good for him!

Vet Praises Cell Tech Products

In six years of using the Cell Tech Super Blue Green products with animals, I have seen some wonderful things. I use them routinely for my animals that have poor immune function, chronic diseases, skin problems, poor coats, and the list goes on.

Goat Wants Her "Dessert"

We have an Alpine goat that enjoys escaping her pen. She invariably gets into weeds that cause her jaw to swell and she bloats for 24 to 48 hours. I have learned that giving her Super Sprouts & Algae with her daily amount of Animal Algae really helps. She knows the sound of the bottle that holds this scrumptious tablet and refuses to go back to eating her grain until she gets dessert first!

—Christine Banta

"Pill-popping" Puppy

Our puppy, Grace, eats algae, enzymes, probiotics, Super Q10...you name it. If she can get her teeth on it, it is gone! She especially loves opening up the Essentials packets, one after another, and gobbling up the algae. She is so cute, especially when she eats the Q10—they "pop" in her mouth and she looks surprised and then thump, thump, thump goes her tail, saying "more please!"

Wild Animal Sanctuary Sees Remarkable Results with SBGA

In August 2002, at Cell Tech's annual conference, Carol Bennett presented heart-warming results from the Rocky Mountain Wildlife Conservation Center in Colorado, which rescues and rehabilitates exotic and endangered animals, mostly great cats and bears. "We have spent many years pioneering one of the most nutritional diets available to captive wildlife, and we're proud to say that Super Blue Green Algae is a part of our nutritional excellence. All of the residents at the sanctuary are given SBGA, and the results are simply remarkable. Cell Tech's SBGA has made an incredible difference in the lives of our residents," says the center's director, Pat Craig. "We are truly amazed at what the product has been able to do."

The 67 animals at the refuge consume over 5,000 pounds of raw meat, fruits, vegetables, grains, cereals, and breads per week, all fortified with SBGA.

With the use of SBGA, improvements have been noted in:

- Energy Level
- Digestion
- Calcium Level
- Skin & Coat
- Appetite
- Attitude
